Officers in the University of Kentucky R. O. T. C. corps are now at Camp Knox, Ky., where the students have gone into advanced training after the usual preliminary work. The total of 653 students there represent 21 different colleges and universities in Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, Kansas, Michigan, Tennessee, Minnesota, Missouri and West Virginia.

About 140 of the men are working in the anti-aircraft defense practice program, the remaining students being assigned to field artillery and infantry companies, and are receiving instruction and practice along these lines.

The majority of men are from the Fifth Corps Area, and come from the following schools: University of Kentucky, West Virginia University, University of Dayton, University of Cincinnati, University of Akron, Ohio State University, Purdue University, Kentucky Military Institute, Greenbrier Military School, Indiana University, DePauw University, and Culver Military Academy.

Boxing and wrestling shows were started last week, as a part of the supervised athletics which form a large section of the camp program. Gold and silver medals will be awarded in each weight class. There will be an all R. O. T. C. track and field meet July 23, with each branch of the service holding its own preliminary meet for the selection of its representatives. Gold, silver and bronze medals will also be awarded winners in all events, and the college or university whose students make the largest number of points will be given a handsome trophy. Baseball is another sport which is arousing interest among the men, each company and battery being represented by a team.

Students of the C. A. C. unit have taken up practice with the .30 calibre rifle. All equipment used by the students is of the latest design and manufacture, devised by army experts who have made a study of the problem since the World War. The men will also be given instruction in the use of the three-inch gun, and will fire on towed targets with them. Airplanes from Bowman Field will tow an 18-foot target both at night and during the daylight, five huge search lights being put to use at night practice.

CAMPUS
KERNELS

One of the advantages the summer student has over his winter companion in searching after knowledge, is the beauty of the campus scenery in June, July and August. We are always singing the praises of old Kentucky, and there are some spots on our own university acreage that even live up to the Progress Magazine cuts and description. It's a rare place for moonlight courting—but there's no use trying that—or curfew will ring on you.

We feel the urge coming upon us to award some first class prizes. To the "courtliest" summer school couple, we give this handsome Austin, 1927 model. Step right up... ladies and gentlemen, let me introduce Miss Dorothy Berlin and Mr. Robert Smith!

We hear that there MAY be a POSSIBILITY of moving the senior law class rooms downstairs this fall. What luck! Not so far now to get to the smoking room for that usual rest period between the strenuous arguments we lawyers live upon.

While scattering some good hours to the wind, fell upon the neck of our old friend who blows the trumpet for the University. And what we mean, he doesn't play one either, even if he is musically inclined. Sulzer tells us he did a little recording on his trip to Columbus, making a record of "On, On, U. of K." and "Hail Kentucky, Alma Mater," for use at the radio studio.

Saw the versatile Christine Johnson ALONE, and began to worry a poor overtaxed brain... but to behold, not two hours later saw her well equipped with the mighty Scotchman, Paul McBrayer. All's well!

Whereupon to the library, to marvel at the ever studious folk who people our summer campus. There's a moral somewhere. Can YOU puzzle it out?

Teaching During Summer

Some of the members of the faculty of the Arts and Sciences College are spending their vacation months studying and teaching at other universities, while others are spending the summer months at restful resorts.

Dr. G. L. Basset, of the psychology department, is teaching at North Dakota Agricultural College, Fargo, North Dakota.

Prof. H. H. Downing is teaching at the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, Ala.

R. G. Lund and Ellery Hall, instructors in the history department, are studying at the University of Chicago.

Prof. Margaret Horsefield, of the romance language department, is studying at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

W. H. Hansen, instructor in physical education, is a counselor at Camp Winnabago, Fayette, Maine.

Prof. N. R. Maxson is spending his vacation at Bay View, Mich.

Prof. O. J. Stewart, of the chemistry department, is in Angola, Ind.

PRIZES TO BE GIVEN

The date has been set for the third annual series of purebred sheep schools of the College of Agriculture from July 28, 29, 30 and 31. The program will be conducted in cooperation with the Kentucky Accredited Purebred Sheep Breeders Association. A series of prizes will be offered and a trip to the International Livestock Show will be awarded to the high point winner of the judging contests.

In addition to members of the department of animal husbandry, the following authorities are expected to attend and take part in the program: Lawrence Kaufman, Ohio State University; H. E. Reed, Kansas State College; E. L. Shaw, West Virginia; L. V. Starkey, Clemson College, S. C.; George Templeton, Fort Worth, Texas; W. L. Henning, Pennsylvania State College; C. C. Flannery, University of Tennessee; and the noted breeders, Senator P. B. Gaines, William Hinton, John Devers, G. C. Thompson, A. T. Sanders, C. D. Cotton, Kenneth Connelly, and J. H. Souley; shepherds Harold Barber, Jack Dennis, and Thomas Cardwell.

The schools will begin at 9 o'clock Monday morning, July 28, continuing through the four days with trips to Danville, Lancaster, Versailles, Goshen, Carrollton, Owenton, Jonesville, Elliston, Sadleville, Stamping Ground, and returning to the University Thursday afternoon, July 31, will close with the sixth annual banquet of the organization that night. The trips will include visits to many of the farms of Kentucky where purebred sheep are raised.

Short Class Comes To Successful Close

Approximately 60 students enrolled in the Parent-Teacher training course class conducted by Dr. H. S. McCoy, which closes tomorrow. One college credit will be given for satisfactory completion of the course.

Topics discussed during the last week included program construction, approved activities, rural problems, trained leadership, pageantry, and publicity, danger signals, and lectures.

Lectures, discussion, readings, reports and display of parent-teacher material constituted the class work. Outside work included 16 volumes dealing with parent-teacher problems, for reading and study.

AWARD IS MADE

An award of merit has been made to the Phoenix Amusement Company by the Exhibitor's Herald-World, a motion picture industrial magazine, through the Western Electric Company, for the excellence of the sound productions shown at the Strand and Ben Ali theaters. The award is in the form of a beautiful bronze plaque, now on display at the Ben Ali theater.

MAY VISIT RADIO STUDIO

Anyone who is interested in visiting the University radio station while the programs are being broadcast, may call the publicity office before Wednesday. A limited number can be admitted to the broadcasting room.

JESS M. LAUGHLIN MARRIED

Mr. and Mrs. Jess M. Laughlin are spending several days at the Lafayette hotel before getting settled in an apartment for housekeeping. Mr. Laughlin, who was a 1930 graduate of the University, was married June 12 in Phoenix, Ariz., to Miss Nancy L. Lewin, and the young couple have just completed their wedding journey.

DR. JESSE E. ADAMS

Prof. Jesse E. Adams, of the Education College, has been notified that his new text book, "The Child Centered Speller," has been accepted for use in the Lexington schools.

U. K. Exhibit of 4-H Club Publications
Wins First Honors

The University College of Agriculture won first honors on its exhibit of 4-H club publications at the national 4-H club camp held in Washington last week, according to word received by J. W. Whitehouse, leader of the state club. Edward Hayes, of McKee, one of the four outstanding Kentucky club members, was honored by being selected to place a wreath on the tomb of George Washington.

The committee which awarded Kentucky's exhibit first place was composed of Dr. M. C. Merrill, chief of the office of publications; Frank D. Smith, assistant chief, and Edwin C. Powell, senior editor, United States department of agriculture. Miss Edith Lacey and M. S. Gar-side, of the University, accompanied the club members to Washington. They were Edward Hayes, Ruth Harris, Elizabeth Word and Robert L. Graves.

Foreign Countries
Give Summer Work

In fourteen European countries 119 summer courses will be offered this year for the main benefit of the foreign student. Germany, with 25, leads in the number of universities offering such summer courses; France offers 23, and England 20. Belgium, Denmark, Italy, Yugoslavia, Holland, Austria, Portugal, Switzerland, Spain, Hungary and Ireland also offer students the opportunity of making their vacations, spent in these countries, profitable as well as pleasurable.

The University of Hamburg offers a general course, with special emphasis on instruction in the German language. The Romance Seminar includes study of the language, literature, folklore and art of Spain and the Spanish-American countries. For teachers, there will be a course in the best and most successful methods of teaching German.

The cost of the summer study in Germany is nominal, being from 50 to 100 marks. In Austria instruction, for the greater part, is free. A certificate showing the work accomplished is given to each student at the close of the summer work.

L. Niel Plummer Is Added to Faculty

Mr. L. Niel Plummer, a graduate of the University, and at present city editor of the Lexington Herald, has been added to the staff of the journalism department as an instructor in the freshman classes and other subjects. He will assume his duties with the opening of the regular fall term.

While attending the University, Mr. Plummer was well known on the campus, especially in journalistic circles. He served for two years on The Kernel staff, holding the position of managing editor at the end of that time.

Mr. Plummer was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, and Sigma Delta Chi, men's honorary journalism fraternity. He has been with the Herald since graduating, and was promoted to city editorship last winter.

WORKS AT PLAYGROUNDS

Frank Davidson, University graduate, who is dramatic director for the Civic League playgrounds this summer, is also in charge of the street showers for the Lexington children. The showers were started Monday at various locations in the city.

RILEY TO DIRECT SERIES

Beginning October 1, every four weeks, on Wednesday nights, a series of musical comedettes will be given by the University radio studio. Many of the latest musical comedies with their musical scores and some dialogue, will be produced, with Thomas L. Riley, radio announcer, directing and supervising.

The defeat of Earl King Senff, 1930 varsity star and '31 captain-elect, featured the tennis tournament for the summer students. Senff was favored to win the championship, but now great interest is particularly shown in other prospective "dark horses" who may come to the front. Senff was beaten 4-6, 6-0, 6-4, by R. Y. Cravens, graduate student and a former tennis star at the University.

Two stars of the Berea College team are entered in the tournament. They are Kendrick and Harlow, the former No. 1 ranking player during the past season at his school. Professor Randall and his two sons are also entered in the tournament. The faculty is also represented by Mr. Portmann of the journalism department, and Mr. Heinz of the hygiene department.

The results of the singles tournament is as follows: T. Boyd defeated Portmann; T. Gregg defeated E. Lewis; R. Y. Cravens defeated E. K. Senff; B. Kaplan defeated S. Goller; C. Randall defeated Heinz; Steely defeated H. R. Greene; Ben LeRoy defeated L. Crump; T. H. Dunigan defeated L. Crump; D. Randall defeated McDonald; Harlow defeated Revel; F. H. Randall defeated Harry Baum; Beemon defeated Hicks; Lawson defeated Gullett.

In the quarter finals of the doubles the following are paired: Beemon and Dunigan vs. Senff and Steely; Harlow and Kendrick vs. Sparks and Hamilton; Randall and Randall vs. Gregg and LeRoy; Cravens and Lawson vs. Greene and Hamon.

There are 16 in the horseshoe tournament which is well under way. The first round will have been played off by today. Six new standard horseshoe courts are being erected east of the gymnasium. Permanent stakes are being set in concrete and regulation frames are being made.

The tournament in diamondball has not yet started. It is hard to organize the different teams, but Mr. Robinson believes he can have the teams organized and the tournament started within the next few days. The Engineering College and the dormitories have teams and the faculty is arranging to have a team. Anyone who cares to play should see Mr. Robinson at once.

Students Desert
Campus on Day
Of July Fourth

Utterly forsaken and deathly silent is the campus during the summer school. All the students have scattered except a few who are especially ambitious and thirsty for knowledge, and who are spending their time in the library.

Even the professors leave. It is possible and most probable that the janitor, who is always around, may have deserted his post. Books are left untouched and lessons are forgotten. In short, there is nothing doing.

But don't misunderstand! This is the description of the campus on the Fourth of July, on which day the entire constituency of the University summer school is released to add their bit of celebration to the national holiday.

It should be needless to remind anyone that Friday, July Fourth, 1930, marks the passing of 154 years since the Declaration of Independence was signed. Methods of living are considered to have greatly improved since that day. Science is supplanting the work of a few great brains for a multitude of smaller ones.

Our nation occupies a position of prominence and is respected by all others. Expansion and organization has been the business of the United States since that day when the Declaration was signed by a few far-seeing statesmen.

However, as much as Americans have endeavored to be original and individual, at least a few of the old world characteristics have not been eradicated. The note of restriction and restraint which our ancestors fought creeps into the following notice:

"One-tenth will be deducted from the final standing of any student who is absent from his last class before the holiday or the first class following it."

ADVOCATES SMOKING ROOM

BERKELEY, Calif.—To the defense of women who want to smoke on the study campus of the University of California, has come William Hudson, editor of the University student daily newspaper. He advocates a women's smoking room in Stephens Union building on the campus.

SENIOR INVITATIONS

Seniors expecting to take their degrees in August must place orders for their Senior Invitations at the Campus Book Store before July 19. The invitations are the same as those for the spring commencement, and the price will be 50c for those with leather covers and 30c for those with the cardboard covers. Seniors are urged to place their orders now in order to avoid the confusion of rush orders at a later date.

Poultrymen Elect
Pyles President

W. E. Pyles, of Maysville, was re-elected president of the Kentucky Poultry Improvement Association at the close of the short course on poultry problems held last week by the College of Agriculture. Ninety-five men and women attended the classes and made an intensive study of practical poultry problems, under the supervision of Prof. H. C. Knadel, head of the poultry department at the University of Pennsylvania.

The present work of the association includes an educational program for the state, functioning as a medium of supervision of poultry flocks in order to provide baby chicks and breeding stock of varied grades. Directors attending the sixth annual meeting were W. E. Pyles, of Maysville; Stabey Menefee, Crittendon; Walter Fresh, Georgetown; George Turner, Campbellsville; J. E. Humphrey and J. Holmes Martin, Lexington; Strauter Harney, of Paris.

RECEIVES PROMOTION

Mr. J. Abell Mills, of Lebanon, Ky., a graduate of the University, has recently been named assistant to the executive vice-president of the Carrier Engineering Corporation in Newark, N. J., where he has been employed for the last two years as contract manager. He is also a director of the Auditorium Conditioning Corporation of New York, and a former director of the Universal Humidifier Corporation.

PLANS PROGRESS
FOR BROADCASTProject of Seven Station-Hookup for Alabama-Kentucky Game Favorably Received by Radio Authorities

Prof. Elmer G. Sulzer, director of the University radio studio, has received a letter from T. M. McKnight of the University of Alabama publicity department, concerning the plans for the broadcasting of the Alabama-Kentucky football game November 1 over the National Broadcasting Company chain hookup.

The plan seems to be progressing favorably according to Professor Sulzer. This will be the first time a University of Kentucky game has been broadcast through so many stations. The regular program is broadcast through WHAS, Louisville, WSM Nashville, WMC Memphis, WSB Atlanta, WAPI Birmingham, WSNB New Orleans, and WJDX Jackson, would be the other stations on the chain.

Professor Sulzer has also written to J. E. Williams, publisher, of the Appalachian Journal, concerning the plans, getting the reaction of the people in Tennessee to the national broadcast. Mr. Williams says that he considers the idea an excellent one, and believes that the NBC should be urged to broadcast results on all the southern games.

The University stadium has a remote control wiring to connect it with WHAS at Louisville where it could be put on the chain without additional expense. The NBC authorities are giving the project favorable consideration.

ries to Be Given by Dr.
Charles Barkenbus

A series of four Tuesday radio talks by Dr. Charles Barkenbus, associate professor of organic chemistry at the University, will be given from the University remote control studios in connection with station WHAS of the Courier-Journal and Times at Louisville, beginning on Tuesday, July 8. The title of these talks will be "Facts About Gases and You," which gives promise of being one of the most interesting series planned for the 1930 radio program from the University.

Other University radio features for the week beginning July 7, are:

Monday, July 7, 12:45 to 1:00 p. m.—(a) "Avoid Early Motters," by Prof. Stanley Caton, field agent in poultry. (b) "Sheep Talk," Prof. R. C. Miller, field agent in animal husbandry.

Tuesday, July 8, 12:45 to 1:00 p. m.—"Facts About Gases and You," (No. 1), Dr. Charles Barkenbus, associate professor of organic chemistry.

Wednesday, July 9, 12:45 to 1:00 p. m.—(a) "Sheep Talk," Prof. R. C. Miller, field agent in animal husbandry. (b) "Cover Crops For the Orchard," Prof. W. W. Magill, field agent in horticulture.

Wednesday, July 9, 10:00 to 10:30 p. m.—"The Story of Our Music," (No. 5) (Rossini and Verdi).

Thursday, July 10, 12:45 to 1:00 p. m.—"Adventures in Modern Drama" (No. 2), Dr. George K. Brady, associate professor of English.

Friday, July 11, 12:45 to 1:00 p. m.—"What Farm Folks Are Asking," Prof. N. R. Elliott, state agent in charge of specialists, College of Agriculture.

Theater Dedicated

Chi Omega Sorority's Gift to Arkansas University

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—A Greek amphitheater, a white monument of classic charm set in the natural greenery of an Ozark hillside, was dedicated by Chi Omega, national women's fraternity, as a memorial gift to the University of Arkansas, the fraternity's birthplace nearly a half century ago.

With her sister fraternity members and visitors seated in the concrete tiers that ranged up the campus hillside, Mrs. Ida Pace Purdue, of Los Angeles, made the speech of presentation for the theater from its expansive stage. President John C. Futrell, of the University of Arkansas, accepted the gift in a short address. United States Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, senior senator, was the principal speaker at the exercises.

By FRANCES L. HOLLIDAY

"Prominent on the campus," that worthy phrase, takes on a new meaning in the Summer Session over that which it has during the regular term at the University, as two women, one of whom is 70 years old, the other 16, attain it as the youngest and oldest students here. Miss Inah G. Cabell, Henderson, Ky., is the eldest; Miss Mary Elizabeth Elston, Turner's Station, Ky., is the youngest.

Miss Cabell is enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences, majoring in library science. She has been of the educational profession for fifty years, having been connected with the Henderson High School during the past thirty years.

During her work at Henderson, Miss Cabell has been head of the English department, as well as coach of debating. Her work as coach has been very successful, and her many pupils have won for her much praise.

Two years ago when a high school library was established in Henderson, Miss Cabell was appointed librarian. To satisfy the requirements of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in regard to the qualifications of a high school librarian, she has attended the University Summer School last year and this.

Her program for the day during the two summers, which has been much the same, begins with a start for school at 7 o'clock each morning. From that time until 5 o'clock in the afternoon Miss Cabell studies and attends classes on the campus; eating at the University Commons. Returning home, she indulges in a short rest, but at 7 o'clock in the evening resumes her studies, until 10 p. m., when she retires.

Miss Cabell expressed herself as pleased with the University and the work which it is doing. She has been especially interested in the prominent parts her former students have taken while here. Among these she mentioned Prof. Wayne Keller, assistant chemistry instructor; Thomas Riley, writer for The Kernel "Roamin' the Rialto" column; and Jack Rash, former member of Toy Sandefur's Rhythm Kings orchestra.

Miss Elston came for this summer school at the University to get her first taste of university work and life. She is enrolled in the College of Agriculture, and is planning to major in home economics, preparatory to teaching the subject.

Miss Elston is a graduate of the Campbellsville high school in the class of 1930. During her high school years, she was also a member of the 4-H club near her home; as well as engaging in other agricultural activities.

Her brother, Charles B. Elston, who received his degree of bachelor of science from the University in 1915, is now county agricultural agent of Lincoln county.

That absent-mindedness is truly a characteristic of school teachers was thoroughly demonstrated by them in the manner in which they disclosed the years of their respective births. Consulting the blanks which they had filled out at the time of their registration it was found that at least 100 students claimed the year of their birth as 1930, while one lady boldly inscribed after the date of her birth—1992. Perhaps she is a believer in reincarnation!

21 COLLEGES IN
GOLF TOURNEY

OAKMONT, Pa.—With 21 colleges represented in the 32 qualifiers, a new record, the intercollegiate golf championship Tuesday finished the medal play stage and moved on to the man-to-man encounters Wednesday.

Never before has such a variety of institutions, from far and near, North, South, East, and West, sent its crack golfers into the championship proper.

In the 36-hole qualifying round, Princeton won the team championship for the fourth consecutive year, its total of 643 for the four-man team nosing out Yale by five strokes. Harvard, in turn, was five strokes back of the Blue.

Larry Moller, captain of the Notre Dame team, playing in the championship for the first time, and George T. Dunlap, Jr., medalist in last year's tournament, tied for the medal with 36-hole scores of 153. Moller's two-day scores were 76 and 77, but Dunlap had to improve on his 78 in the first round with a sparkling 75 in the second.

The low score was 75, Dunlap sharing the honor with two others, Zeta Tau Alpha, at West Baden, Indiana.

GET ACQUAINTED

There is a lot heard about the variations of the type of students on the campus during the summer school, differing from the usual boys and girls in the regular sessions. To a great extent this is true; summer school was originated with a thought to the doors of opportunity open for the teachers throughout the state, who might come to the University in the vacation period and take classes to keep them in touch with the latest educational methods.

These educators are here to learn, to get something from their professors that they may take home with them and pass on to the youth of Kentucky. They are an earnest, sincere and a most worthwhile group of people. If the younger students who are attending the Summer Session so desire, they may find many characteristics in their neighbors worthy of emulation. After all, a university is, primarily, a place of learning, in spite of the fact that untold precious hours are sometimes frivolously away and wasted.

On the other side of the question, the older students may learn, after close observation and contact with their younger fellows, that the modern generation is not as bad as is painted, that there is a fearless honesty and open-mindedness about them which is most admirable. They may find that some of the freshness and vitality is communicable, and that it is one of the things they wish to take home with them.

So get together, all of you. Make friends with your classmates, talk over matters of common interest with each other. You will find that the summer's end will leave you with a gold mine of rich and lasting friendships, a wealth of knowledge of humanity hitherto undreamed of. In other words, educate yourselves to the fullest measure.

CONVERSATION CLUBS

We read where Oxford University in England has formed clubs to cultivate the "fast disappearing art of informal abstract talking."

The news sounded like a joke at first, but come to think of it, conversation has so many enemies now—the radio, victrola, bridge, and the like—that something probably is needed to bolster it up.

Despite the fast-moving age in which we are living, most people welcome the opportunity to talk and it is reasonable to predict that there will be a general response to a project which regards chatter as an art.

We're not predicting that any conversation societies will be organized immediately at Ohio State but, after all, it's worth thinking about.—Ohio State Lantern.

JULY FOURTH, 1930

Throughout the country men will parade, speakers will loudly recount the steps of progress, flags will wave. It will be America, dressed in her best patriotic attire, out on a nationwide holiday. July Fourth, 1930!

There is no need to here retrace the growth of the greatest nation of the modern world, for university students are steeped in the lore of the life history of their own country. Of all classes of people they, certainly, should realize the magnificence of their homeland. To all true patriots, celebration of the independence of the United States of America is not a one-day affair, but a lasting love and loyalty to city, to state, to country.

However, for this one glorious day let us enjoy to the fullest a holiday which really belongs to us as Americans, which cries out the watchword of our own generation—Freedom!

LISTEN IN

The University radio station, broadcasting through WHAS, Louisville, under the direction of Prof. Elmer G. Sulzer, has recently changed its program in order that farmers and teachers throughout the state may listen in their spare hours. This change makes the programs available to a larger audience, and is a most commendable move.

The radio studio has given to the people of the state, and of course other states, a valuable source of information and pleasure. It has carried the name of the University to thousands of radio fans. It makes contact with prospective students and their parents.

The comprehensive program for the rest of the year has just been published, and shows the careful thought and great amount of work necessary on the part of all branches of the University. The dissemination of practical advice and various subjects of interest is worthy of much praise.

If you are near a radio at the times the University station is broadcasting, listen in, and realize what a wonderful work is being done along this line.

CASTLES FOR COLLEGES?

Surprised indeed would a college freshman be, if during the fraternity "rushing" season, a representative of the Order of Eagles should invite him to "come up to the eyrie and meet some of our boys." Yet a similar situation was forecast last week by an announcement of the Knights of Pythias of Nebraska.

Delegates to the Nebraska Grand Lodge convention, seeking "an objective to the perfection of which members could give their financial aid and fraternal support, and which would be generally beneficial to the Order," were unanimously in favor of erecting on the campus of each and every large university in the United States and Canada a lodge at which Pythians or their sons could live free of charge. Such lodges would be known as "Pythian Student Castles." The plan: if each of the 705,000 Knights of Pythias gives $1 per year, two "castles" accommodating 100 students each, can be erected annually. Each "castle" will cost $125,000 and receive an endowment of $200,000 for upkeep. A reserve of $55,000 will be set aside each year toward building more and more "castles." Inmates will be fed at cost. Those states which are populated by the largest number of Pythians would receive their "castles" first. Next August at the national convention the project will be officially brought to the attention of all Pythians by Supreme Representtative, L. B. Phillips. Chancellor E. A. Burnett, of the University of Nebraska, was the first college head to express an opinion on the Pythians castle scheme: hearty endorsement—Exchange.

COLLEGE COMMENT

The Sigma Delta Chi Quill shows the reaction of male editors in Texas when confronted with the prophecy that in 15 years women will hold practically all of the editing jobs in journalism. "So long as women are home builders and fall in love," says Oswin K. King, "and the majority of them prefer the natural existence intended for the fairer sex, just so long will men have to edit newspapers." ? ? ? ? ?

The Texas legislature last year considered a bill for the abolishment of fraternities at the University of Texas because of the death of a student caused by rough goating there.

Nearly a thousand University of Virginia students former a parade recently and stormed a theater in Charlottesville as a protest against increased admission prices.

DISILLUSION

I used to think you were as my life to me—
A dearness adequate for all time.
My hands, when they met yours,
Told me this was true.
My eyes, perceiving only the lovely lies of you,
Reassured me, telling only the things I longed to hear.

You kissed me last night.
Your kiss was as a song without a melody.
—D'ALLIS CHAPMAN.

GOOD NIGHT

Goodnight, my dear, may Phoebe guard your dreams
While you repose in soothing slumber tight.
The dark comes to relieve the glaring beams
And to counsel us with peace of night.

"The light of the whole world dies," it is true,
But after all it's just the light that brings
A dismal revelation to our view
And a knowledge of this sordid scheme of things.

May calm contenting joys be yours through life:
The joys that are alike to those we know
When shielding gloom and pensive thought Contrive
The naked truths of day to overthrow.

I leave you now consigned to dreams of peace,
And free from cares of nature's unfair fight;
May Morpheus, God of Dreams, bring sweet release
From cares of day; sleep well, sweetheart—
Goodnight.

—ANONYMOUS.

AT PARTING

We cried a little tear or two,
We kissed—and you
And I, half knowing
That tomorrow's sorrow
Brings a lonelier pain.
Quickly turned and kissed again.
—M. CUNDIFF.

Dean S. Blanding's Summer Camp Opens

Trails' End camp for young girls, which is owned and operated by Miss Sarah Blanding, dean of women at the University, and Miss Mary D. Snyder, University graduate, opened its 1930 season on the Kentucky river Tuesday.

Miss Anne Louise Rice, also of the University, is a counselor at the camp, being in charge of art work. Counselors and girls from all parts of the United States are attracted to the camp, which has been successfully operated since 1913.

The forty girls who are at the present term of the camp, represent Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Indiana, Wisconsin, Nebraska, and Virginia.

Don Meikeljohn, tennis and hockey star at the University of Wisconsin for the past three years, was awarded the conference medal for proficiency in athletics and scholarship for 1930 by the athletic council.

JENNINGS TO SPEAK

Dr. W. W. Jennings, of the College of Commerce, will speak to the Young People's League of the First Methodist church, Upper and High streets, on "Faith and the Upward Pull," at 6:45 Sunday night. All summer students are cordially invited to attend.

MY GARDEN OF DREAMS

Something within my nature sings
Of old forgotten, far-off things
As I walk in my garden of dreams.

Sometimes the wild, midsummer rain
Brings the old longings back again—
The star dust and the gleams

Of love from eyes where beauty shines
Pure as the dew on columbines,
That grow in my garden fair.

And there in the hush of night
The stars and moon cast a witching light
On the flowers blooming there.

In my garden of dreams last night
I heard
The mating call of a lonely bird
On the cool, enchanting air.

WEDDINGS

Morris-Fawcett

The marriage of Miss Marguerite Morris to Mr. James Fawcett, both of Fairmont, W. Va., was quietly solemnized June 27 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Schimmel, Jr., on Sycamore road, the Rev. Jesse Hermann officiating.

The bride was beautifully gowned in blue crepe, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of ward roses and gypsophila. Miss Martha Satterfield and Mr. Brady Knight were the only attendants.

After the ceremony the young couple left for West Virginia, and they plan to return to make their home in Lexington in the fall.

Mr. Fawcett attended the University, and is at present with the Blue Grass Roofing Corporation.

Riley-Raach

The marriage of Miss Mary Riley and Mr. Ralph William Raach was solemnized June 28 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Riley, 1018 Fontaine road, Rev. Dr. J. B. Savage was the officiating minister.

The house was elaborately decorated with gladiolas, hydrangeas, delphinium and gypsophila, and an altar was arranged of the flowers in front of the fireplace in the drawing room. The bride wore an eggshell chiffon afternoon frock, with picture hat and slippers to match. Her bouquet was of pink roses and lilies of the valley. Her bridesmaid, Miss Josephine Maxwell, wore a flowered chiffon afternoon frock with a rose colored picture hat and slippers. Mr. Raach's best man was Mr. Randall Jamison. The bride is a graduate of the University, and was a member of the Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority, and Phi Beta, honorary music and dramatic sorority.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Raach left for a short motor trip. They will live in Wellston, Ohio, where Mr. Raach is director of athletics in the high school.

Chi Omega Camp

Members of the Chi Omega sorority will enjoy a camping party at Bide-a-wee, Clifton, Ky., opening the camp July 20 for a week's stay.

PERSONALS

Mr. Lawrence Crump has returned from Oxford, Ohio, where he attended the celebration of the 75th anniversary of his fraternity, Sigma Chi.

Mrs. Frank L. McVey will return home this week-end from a visit in Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. Clyde Bates spent last week-end at her home in Jackson.

Misses Mary Lou Renaker and Elizabeth Hensley visited in Millersburg last week-end.

Mr. Robert Alsover was in Lexington last week-end on his way home to Big Stone Gap, Va., from Camp Knox, Ky.

Miss Mary Lee Kern and Mr. Robert H. Kern, Jr., of Mercedes, Tex., are visiting Miss Elizabeth Tutt.

Miss Evelyn Alsover, who was graduated from the University in June, a guest of Miss Louisa Holton who is attending the summer session, has returned to her home in Big Stone Gap, Va.

Miss Marietta Sparks spent last week-end at home in Paris.

Miss Marguerite McLaughlin left last week for New York where she was joined by her sister, and Miss Frances Hamrick, of Huntington, W. Virginia, who accompanied her on a trip to Europe. They sailed on the Steam Ship Conte Grande, and expect to return early in September.

Miss Hazel Baucum returned on Tuesday from the annual Rhododendron Show at Asheville, N. C., where she represented Kentucky in the festival.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Fisher will spend this week in New York City as the guest of her uncle, Mr. Kenney Erdman.

TEACHERS TO MEET

The twenty-five teachers of the Owensboro public school system, who are attending the Summer Session, will have a "get-together" dinner at the Canary Cottage at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening, July 8. Mr. Sam Morton, principal of the high school, is in charge of arrangements for the dinner and all the Owensboro teachers are requested to see him to reserve a place.

Polo has been resumed at Colorado Agricultural College at Fort Collins. The school is staging a series of two matches with Utah this month.

POSTOFFICE BOXES

Many of the summer students have not been assigned a post-office box. Miss Carrie Bean, postmistress, urges prompt attention to this matter, as important University notices and mail are disrupted by means of these boxes. Please attend to this at once, if you have not already done so. The postoffice is in McVey hall.

Thankful For Small Favors
"Is this train ever on time?" asked a grouchy passenger.
"Oh," replied the conductor, "we never worry about being on time. We're satisfied if it's on the track."

Hello, Joe. Come on down and room with me a little while. Yeh, I know it's too hot, but I want to tell you about the movies for next week as well as a little studio news picked up recently.

—TLR—
You know, it certainly is, remarkable the way "All Quiet on
You know, it certainly is received Of course the novel, by Erich Remarque, had a big sale but you wouldn't think that folks would go for this rather heavy war drama in such hot weather, but they are. The Universal smash is still picking 'em in New York in about the twelfth week of the run. Guess it will be here soon.

—TLR—
Another one of the recent hits is
"The Big House," in which Metro-Golywyn-Mayer depicts prison life.
Reviews of the picture have been raves. At the outset, it has a good cast. Chester Morris, who made big hits in "Alibi" and, more recently,
"Case of Sergeant Grisham," Wallace Beery, Lewis Stone, Lella Hyams, Robert Montgomery, George F.
Marion, and J. C. Nugent are the biggest names in the large cast and, in my mind, these alone should make the production worthy of notice. "The Big House" was directed by George Hill and was written for the screen by Frances Marion. What is said to be a highly realistic plot has been fashioned including a spectacular jail break. If you have a penchant for strong melodrama, you should like "The Big House." It opens at the Ben Ali Sunday.

—TLR—
It is rumored that William S.
Hart will take up the movie again. His last picture, "Tumbleweeds," was released over five years ago and Tiffany is now sounding critics and fans on Western fare. It is thought that Davy Lee, the child of "The Singing Fool," will appear with Hart in his talkie.

—TLR—
Once in a great while a motion picture reaches the silver screen that has more than the standard of entertainment emblazoned upon it. Such is "With Byrd at the South Pole," which opens at the Kentucky tomorrow. You know, Joe, Paramount had a couple of cameramen, William Van Devere and Joseph Rucker, accompany the Byrd Antarctic expedition and film the entire thing from start to finish. According to advanced reports, they have done a wonderful piece of work. Although it is, of course, silent, it has a musical score and,
for about ten minutes during the actual Pole discovery, Floyd Gibbons, champion fast talker of radio fame, describes just what the admiral and his boys are doing, and why. Also at the end of the picture Rucker sums up the entire journey. "With Byrd at the South Pole" is said to be actually dramatic without the dullness and dumbness of most so-called "educational" pictures.

—TLR—
It seems that the State will launch a program of bigger pictures beginning Sunday when they will show "The Song of the Flame" (FN). This picture has Bernice Claire, Alexander Gray, and Noah Beery in the principal roles and is said to be a glamorous romance of Russia. John Barrymore in "The Man From Blankley's" will be the State's attraction on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. This is a hilarious comedy which Barrymore once played on the stage. Although this star is 48 years of age he is undoubtedly one of the biggest name draws of cinemadom.

—TLR—
Fox certainly slips in a lot of new pictures all of a sudden. Now they come out with "Wild Company," which will open at the Strand Sunday. This is said to be an entertaining melodrama of youth, crooks and crime. A splendid cast is offered. H. B. Warner enacts the role of an indulgent father and Frank Albertson appears as a flamboyant youth, while Sharon Lynn characterizes the beautiful siren and gangster's "moll" who leads the boy almost to the brink of destruction.
Joyce Compton is cast as a lively pleasure-seeking modern girl. Other members of the cast are Claire Mc-Dowell, Richard Keene, Kenneth
Thompson and George Fawcett. Leo McCarey directed "Wild Company" and the dialogue was written by Bradley King, who did such a splendid job on Greta Garbo's first talker
"Anna Christie." Yeh, Joe, this should be good. Well, I'll be seein' ya.

Mrs. Mary Duncan Gives Lecture on Third Week Picture

A three-reel motion picture, "Niagra The Glorious," was the third of a series to be shown in Memorial hall Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Mary K. Duncan, of the College of Education, gave a lecture before the picture was started.

The next picture on the program will be July 9, "The Wizardry of Wires," and Dr. M. N. States, of the department of physics, will be the speaker.

These visual apparatus programs mark a step in the progress of modern education, and are of especial interest to high school principals and teachers attending the Summer Session.
